Love Making Among the Lower Animals.

Special contracts will be made with yearly advertisers.

A philosopher, who has noted the wearisomely monotonous proceedings of the young of the human race about that period of their existence when they begin to suffer from love's young dream, has turned his attention to love making of the young of other species. The results of his investigations he is good enough to give to the world at considerable length, in the c.lumns of a foreign journal, and they are decidedly interesting.

Birds and beasts seem to be more constantly sincere and less selfish than humanity, though it cannot be denied that some creatures-the North American grouse and heron, for example -are vain, and at times ridiculous. At certain periods of the year the grouse meet together at a given spot and go through a variety of performances that show their activity and grace. They "run round a ring, now to the right and now to the left, jamping into the air and then bepping on one leg." Of the herons Audubou records that "they

s ak up and down before the females"-much as well dressed men appear in the Perk-"showing themselves off and bidding defiance to all rivals. In the midst of a dignified walk they will stop and caress some particular female, and the text moment they will be knocked over by a larger rival who does not intend to be 'cut our," and he certainy stands a better chance with the "fair ones," as the females prefer handsome consorts. The wisest and most thoughtful of all appears to be the satio bower bird, which builds a beau tiful residence and decorates it carefully and luxuriously. Into this he invites the lady bird of ois choice, and shows her what the naturalist declares are "evident instances of design." Touched by the consideration evinced on her behalf, she usually consents to take up her resi dence with the accomplished builder. "The courtship of the great English bustard is an ex-MANUFACTORY, BRATTLEBORO, VT tremely interesting signs," we are told."

"The leve making is done entirely in the are."

"The leve making is done entirely in the str. Now the male will sail round in curves, set up, and hover over the female, then dror street the ground, only to rise again and continue its odd and fantastic love making. Similar in its odd and fantastic love making. The Assignees being also authorized to sell and property at private sale, parties desiring to purchase may apply to O. W. Huntt, at Fairfax O. H. or to John S. Fowier, at Alexandria. If not sold at private sale prior to July 19th, the property will be sold at public auction, as above stated.

Terms: Seven hundred and twenty dollars cash with be required on the day of sale, and the residue in three equal instalments at one, two and them they approved, he traits his wings and Birds of Paradise are extremely human in some of their proceedings. The famales always to conside the most beautifully colored. try to select the most beautifully colored male birds. When in their best plumage long delibirds. When in their best plumage long deli-cate feathers surround these creatures like a soiden halo, in the centre of which the bright green heads forms an emerald disc, and when the birds moult and lose their feathers, just as, sometimes, when husbands lose their fortunes -the wives desert them. Darwin reports simi-lar things of the Cape of Good Hope meadow bird. The story of the devoted attention paid to the infilm wife by a Guinea sparrow is a noble example for humanity. Miscellaneous.
